CX PREFIX FOR AUTO PLATES IN LOCAL AREA

CX—then take your choice of A, B, C, D, E—and numerals up to 999.
The letters CX are the prefix for all license plates in this area to be distributed to residents starting January 3 and continuing through February 4.

The local Bank of America Branch again this year will have a special window to issue the plates, according to Manager Fred G. Ingram.

SEVEN THOUSAND plates are now on hand, stored until the start of distribution next Tuesday.

In charge of the program will be Bob Hays, who has been in this locality for three months after having been associated with a Pennsylvania bank for a number of years. A former Marine, he is married and has four children.

License renewal statements were mailed earlier this week to all local owners of cars, and approximately 5,300,000 other owners in the State of California.

McKenzie Given 1-14 Year Term

RIVERSIDE (AP)—A former California liquor control officer and a pinball machine company owner awaited outcome of appeals today after being sentenced to prison for bribery conspiracy.

Harold E. McKenzie, 55, liquor control officer for Riverside, Orange and San Bernardino counties under William G. Bonelli, former Fourth District Board of Equalization member, was sentenced to 1-14 years in prison yesterday.

Superior Judge John G. Gabbert also fined Edward J. Seeman, San Bernardino, $2,000 and placed him on two years probation. Gabbert allowed payment at the rate of $100 monthly.

School Trustees to Meet Tonight

Palm Springs Unified School district board of trustees will meet tonight at the Frances Stevens school at 7:30. This meeting was called when the trustees failed to have a quorum at last Thursday's meeting.

In this, the second meeting of the month, the board will deal with policies and procedures, including setting a policy on inter-district attendance, and architectural designs of new buildings. Dr. Wallace Mueller will report on the master plan for the high school plant.

PYRAMID LAKE, NEVADA

My Piute Indian guide has a fine sense of humor; he told me today his field glasses were so high-powered that anything less than ten miles away looks like it's behind you. Told me of a great painter that stayed here. . . . The painter would tell the tourists. . . . "I paint a picture of the Pyramid Lake in two days and think nothing of it." The guide said, "They, the tourists thought nothing of the paintings also."

My guide said last year he told a lady tourist from Boston that this desert is God's own country. The lady tourist answered by saying, as she rattled around in the back seat of the car, "I'll say he certainly done his best to discourage trespassers."

Plan New Fire Station Here

Action Begun by Council for New Building

Peveler Property on Indian Avenue Selected as Site

City council last night by legislation started preparations for the construction of a new fire station on the Peveler property, known as the old Safeway parking lot, and for the modification and enlargement of the police department on its present site.

Fire station No. 1 is now situated in the same building with the police station on North Palm Canyon Drive.

WITH A 5-1 VOTE, councilman Earle Strebe dissenting and councilman Jerry Nathanson absent, the council approved the machinery which will get the project underway. They directed City Manager Robert W. Peterson to engage architects to draw plans for the new station on Indian Avenue, and for modification of the building on Palm Canyon Drive.

Strebe said, during discussion prior to the vote, that the property is the only available off-street parking site close to businesses in that block. He added that another site for the station could be found, because it does not have to be located there, whereas off-street parking must be close to the stores it is meant to serve.

COUNCILSMAN RUTH Hardy said that according to dictates of fire insurance underwriters, the station must be located within that area, whereas a lot across the street, on the east side of Indian, would serve the off-street parking purpose without causing undue hardship to shoppers. The east side of Indian Avenue is out of the district designated by the insurance underwriters.

Other council members seemed to agree with Mrs. Hardy.

U.S. Aid for Airport Waits on Acquisition

To get federal financial aid for the improvement of airport facilities as outlined by a proposal for the future, the city must acquire title to the property. The site, on section 13, is a mile square and now in tribal Indian ownership.

City Manager Robert W. Peterson told city council last night he had received a letter from the Civil Aeronautics Board saying that for the city to get 54 percent aid from the federal government, the city must own the property. It is presently under lease until 1965, and funds for purchase are expected to be included in the proposed February bond election.

Peterson said he felt a master plan should be made in order to facilitate discussion with CAB, and council directed him to contact firms to make an up-to-date study. He said there was an old master plan which did not seem applicable since the increase of airline activity and services.

He told council that United Airlines has indicated they would like to make Palm Springs a stop on their Los Angeles-Las Vegas route, and an application is now pending before the CAB. The airline would want an operations office and passenger facilities if the plan is approved, Peterson said.

The results of the study would pave the way for acquisition of the land and thereby receive federal aid for the improvement.

Theft of Rocks to be Checked

Police Chief August G. Ketmann today issued an order to all officers to be on the lookout for persons taking large rocks from vacant lots.

He said the rocks are private property, as are rocks on Indian land, and taking them amounts to petty theft.

He said there have been cases of landscape gardeners taking rocks from private property in the desert without permission.

Red Cross in Plea for Aid in Flood Area

Palm Springs Branch, American Red Cross, is cooperating in a campaign for funds to aid the flood victims in Northern California and Oregon, according to Dr. Robert Backstrom, chairman.

Donations may be left at the Bank of America or Citizens National Trust and Savings Bank.

The Red Cross is now operating 57 food and clothing shelters in the flood area, and total expenditure of funds which will include replacing 5000 family dwellings, is estimated at $5,000,000.

Senators Not Satisfied with Ford Plans

By DAYTON MOORE

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney said today that some senators are deeply concerned over terms of the forthcoming offer by Ford Motor Co. to sell 10,000,000 shares of its stock to the public.

The Wyoming Democrat noted that the Ford family will retain firm control over the company although the public will have 60 percent of the voting power. The family will have the other 40 per cent.

"Members of the Senate of both parties to whom I have spoken . . . have expressed deep concern, and I have no doubt whatever that the issue will be brought before the banking committee," O'Mahoney said in an interview.

A COMMITTEE spokesman declined to comment other than to say staff members are looking over the Ford stock prospectus which was filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission last week. The committee held lengthy hearings early this year in an investigation of the stock market.

O'Mahoney is chairman of a Senate Monopoly subcommittee which recently held extensive hearings to gauge the impact of General Motors Corp. on the nation's economy.

He said the Ford stock prospectus "illustrates, just as the General Motors hearings did, that in our giant corporations the public — although owning a majority — is without control over the policies of the company."

TO HELP CORRECT this situation, O'Mahoney said, he plans to introduce legislation to abolish all forms of non-voting stock and to require appointment of at least one director of every large corporation to represent stockholders owning less than 100 shares each.

Under reported plans, all of the publicly-owned Ford shares would be in such blocks.

The Ford Foundation will retain 67.6 per cent of the Ford Motor Co. stock, but it will be non-voting. The public will have 20.3 per cent and the Ford family interests 12.1 per cent.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Scientists pondered today what to do about a crisis in science education that is putting the United States far behind Russia in the training of technical specialists.

Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the federally financed National Science Foundation, told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that the government is helping relieve the situation to the tune of 395 million dollars a year but that most of the responsibility lies with local school authorities and parents.

Waterman elaborated at a press conference with five other authorities in the field of education.

THEY TOLD REPORTERS the crisis in scientific manpower stems mainly from these factors:

1. Only half the high schools in the United States offer chemistry and physics and 25 per cent of the nation's schools have neither.

Drastic Steps Taken to Cut Traffic Toll

May Even Call Out National Guard on New Year's Eve

CHICAGO (AP)—State officials across the nation answered an unprecedented appeal for a drastic traffic crackdown today with plans for a nationwide program to save lives over the New Year's holiday.

The appeal came from the National Safety Council, which was shaken by the all-time record of 621 traffic deaths over Christmas and its own prediction that a new record will be set during the New Year's holiday.

The council followed up its forecast of 420 'New Year's' deaths with telegrams to the governors of all 48 states.

"THIS NATION cannot afford to experience or tolerate another toll comparable to the one over the last weekend," Council President Ned H. Dearborn's telegram said.

"We feel the toll of more than 600 deaths from highway accidents constitutes a national emergency that must be met just as floods, fires, and other major disasters are met — by emergency action."

It was the first time that the Safety Council had made a direct appeal for emergency action by the states. Plans for such action were already underway in many state capitals.

In Texas, the director of the Public Safety Department told highway patrolmen to "throw away your warning ticket books" and "make an arrest in every moving traffic violation which comes to your attention."

PLANS TO CALL out the National Guard were being considered in Illinois and Wisconsin Gov. Walter Kohler asked military police from the National Guard to volunteer for holiday duty.

At Denver, the Safety Council planned to serve free coffee in a hotel lobby between 10 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 a.m. Sunday, the height of the merry-making period.

The coffee will be served up by attractive hostesses wearing the slogan "Make the last one for the road coffee."

Plans to keep drunken drivers off the road were also pressed in Chicago, which contributed more traffic deaths than any other city over the Christmas holidays.

Babe Didriksen Pneumonia Victim

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Dr. H. W. Paley confirmed today that Babe Didriksen Zaharias, famous woman athlete, who already has cancer, also is suffering from pneumonia, but that her condition "is not serious as of this moment."

"We don't expect it to get serious," he added.

Paley said Mrs. Zaharias was being given anti-biotics and would be "up in the next few days."

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Scientists pondered today what to do about a crisis in science education that is putting the United States far behind Russia in the training of technical specialists.

Dr. Alan T. PLAN PARKING METERS FOR POST OFFICE AREA

City council last night authorized City Manager Robert W. Peterson to purchase meters necessary to control parking near the post office.

Prior to the action, Peterson told council that a traffic study is being made concerning parking around the post office.

So far, he said, the survey has shown the need for one-hour meters on both sides of Palm Canyon Drive a block north and a block south of the building. He said a need for two hour meters on Tamarisk Road between Palm Canyon Drive and Indian Avenue is indicated. Tamarisk Road travels east and west, and if extended would pass right by the front of the post office.

He said further survey may result in installation of 12 or 24 minute meters directly in front of the building on the west side of Palm Canyon Drive.

President Stays Indoors on First Day of Vacation

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—President Eisenhower today started the first full day of his South Florida vacation by working indoors on an oil painting of a Colorado Rocky Mountain scene.

Partly cloudy and windy weather with occasional showers in the early morning may have influenced the President's decision to remain at his quarters during the morning.

Later, in the day, Mr. Eisenhower was expected to get outdoors if the early morning showers do not recur.

THE TEMPERATURE was in the low 70s and the sun broke through the clouds periodically. Winds were blowing between 20 and 30 miles an hour and small craft warnings were displayed through the Keys.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said "no work of necessity" confronted the President today, although a "semi-final" draft of the State of the Union Message would arrive by airmail courier from Washington tomorrow morning.

The President was expected to do some work on his Jan. 5 message tomorrow.

Military Use of Public Lands to be Investigated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Clair Engel (D-Calif.) asked Defense Department officials today to testify before the House Interior Committee next week on military use of public lands.

He said there has been "increasing concern throughout the western states" over continued expansion of the area of public lands withdrawn from general use. And, he said, he understands that defense agencies are asking for withdrawal of another 4,000,000 acres.

"Two such proposed withdrawals in my own area—the Saline valley range in the Death Valley area, and the Fallon gunnery range in northwestern Nevada—have generated extreme controversy," he said in a letter to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

"The probable impact of these and other such withdrawals on future multiple resource utilization—to include forage for grazing, water, wildlife, and minerals and materials—has brought into sharp focus the need for an early examination into current withdrawal policies and procedures," he added.

Engle said the military has taken over an area of public lands equal to the areas of Massachusetts, Maryland, New Hampshire and Delaware. Further withdrawals planned, he said would equal more than the area of New Jersey and Rhode Island.

The hearing will be held next Wednesday and Thursday. Engle told Wilson he intends only to go into general defense policies during the two days. Later, a hearing may be scheduled on specific withdrawals by the Army, Air Force and Navy, he said.

Wilson Sees No End to Defense Spending Soon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson says he can "see no end" to heavy defense spending in the foreseeable future.

Wilson made the remark as he arrived here with his wife by plane yesterday to act as grand marshal of the Tournament of Roses parade on Monday.

"I see no end to it (defense spending)," Wilson said, "and I'm skeptical of reports that the Russians have reduced their spending."

The Weather

Eisenhower Attacked for Interference

Khrushchev Terms U.S. Action in Red Europe Areas 'Crude'

By HENRY SHAPIRO

United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev attacked President Eisenhower today for what he called his "crude interference" in the affairs of Communist East Europe.

The rare Soviet attack on an American head of state came shortly after Premier Nikolai Bulganin hinted in a speech before the Supreme Soviet Parliament that Russia had developed rocket weapons of "inter-continental power."

Then Khrushchev said the power of Russia's recently exploded hydrogen bomb "can be considerably increased" beyond its present equivalent of "many millions of tons of ordinary explosive."

Creators of tension "should remember the result of this test," Khrushchev declared to thunderous applause from the Soviet Parliament.

KHRUSHCHEV SAID Christmas messages broadcast to Eastern Europe by President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other Americans were designed to "re-establish capitalism" in those states.

"The Communist party leader said he did not like to criticize President Eisenhower 'whom I respect so much,' but he was less soothing to Dulles and singled him out for particularly heavy criticism."

He said the American messages were not "compatible with the Geneva spirit" because they said their authors were praying for the liberation of Eastern European countries and would give them assistance.

"It leads to the incitement of passions," Khrushchev said. The messages were year-end holiday greetings from Mr. Eisenhower and other U. S. leaders broadcast to Eastern Europe over the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe.

KHRUSHCHEV THEN took up the subject of Dulles.

"Some Western politicians have a strange idea of the Geneva spirit," he said. "They want to disarm us morally and politically. Such conditions are unacceptable to us."

"The most eager proponents of such an unrealistic policy are in the United States, particularly Secretary of State Dulles who plays a leading role in advocating massive retaliation and other absurdities."

"They are even still using such out of date strength as 'forcing the Reds to withdraw.'"

Khrushchev also disposed of President Eisenhower's "open sky" arms inspection plan with a brief question and answer.

"How does it differ from military intelligence?" he asked. "It differs in no way at all."

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen was in the audience.

Khrushchev's speech added up to one of the sternest denunciations ever aimed by the Soviets at the American President.

To Send 'Nike' Overseas as New Defensive Weapon

By JOHN W. FINNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The Nike antiaircraft guided missile is the next advanced weapon likely to be sent to Europe to strengthen Western defenses, it was learned today.

The missile itself probably will not be sent overseas for more than a year. But in the meantime, launching sites, including underground storage rooms, will be constructed for the Nike.

The supersonic missile, which already is protecting 18 major cities in the United States, will be assigned to U.S. forces stationed in Europe. Its primary mission will be to guard the string of U.S. bases there, particularly in Germany. But it also probably will be used in helping protect major West European cities.

Present plans do not call for furnishing any West European forces with the Nike, although the Allies will be informed about the capabilities of the weapon. There is a possibility West European nations may even be given sufficient information about the weapon so they can produce it themselves if they want to.

The plan to send Nike missile units to Europe reflects (1) the near completion of the first phase of affording antiaircraft protection to major U.S. cities, (2) the growing demand of smaller European nations for greater access to advanced weapons developed by the United States and Great Britain, and (3) the determination to equip North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces with the most modern weapons, including nuclear weapons.

The Nike, which has a high kill capability against enemy bombers up to 25 miles away, is the only operational Army missile not yet supplied to U.S. Army forces in Europe. The missile would be of obvious value in providing a last-ditch defense in an area such as Germany where advance warning of an enemy attack would be difficult because of the closeness of Communist air bases.

The Army plans early next year to send to Europe four artillery battalions equipped with the Nike, a bombardment missile with a 75-mile range. In addition, the Army has several batteries in Europe capable of firing the Honest John, a rocket with a 10-to-20-mile range.

Want to Feel Good Jan 1? Listen to this Bartender

By JOHN BONING
President of the Bartenders School Inc.
Written for United Press
NEW YORK — A hangover? I've never had one in my life. And let me tell you, I like to celebrate New Year's Eve just like the next guy.

I've been tending bar for 45 years and as I see it, the reason most drinkers wind up with New Year's Day hangovers is that their approach is, if I may use the word, cock-eyed. They don't know how to prepare for the big occasion, what to drink or even how to drink. Some drinkers are even foolish enough to take their cars out with them.

ACTUALLY, preparing for New Year's Eve is pretty simple. The first rule is to get some rest before you go out — you have the whole evening ahead of you, so try to take a nap of an hour or two before you start any celebrating.

What you eat for dinner is pretty important, too. Treat yourself to a good, heavy meal — steak is probably the best, with all the trimmings. The more you fill your stomach up with good nourishing food, the better able your stomach will be to absorb the alcohol you pour down yourself.

NEXT, THERE'S the drinking. As far as I'm concerned, I like to drink champagne. The second best, I think, is Scotch and water. But any good whiskey with plain water should keep you from getting sick.

There are three good rules to remember in drinking. One, stay away from sweet mixes. Two, stay away from sweet, complicated drinks. And third, don't mix your drinks — that's a certain way to wind up sick.

Eat while you are drinking. It slows down the guzzling. As a matter of fact, if you guzzle just for the sake of getting loaded on New Year's Eve you're foolish — not only because it'll make you ill, but because you're not showing much appreciation for good liquor.

Dancing is a good idea, too, while you're celebrating. It helps you burn off the alcohol, and like eating, slows down the guzzling.

KNOWING WHEN to stop is one of the most important rules to observe. There's no hard and fast rule for this — some people should stop after two drinks, some can polish off a dozen drinks without showing it.

But there are some danger signs. If you're the silent type who suddenly starts talking a lot, it's time to stop. If you're a talker and suddenly go silent, it's time to stop.

I've seen all kinds of drunks in my years of tending bar — there are the singers and the table-hoppers, there are the bottle throwers and the arguers, and there are the kissing bugs. All of them are people who just don't know when to stop. And many of them frequently wind up with one red eye and one black eye on New Year's Day.

BEFORE YOU TURN in for the night, or the morning, it's a pretty good idea to eat again. I like milk with stale bread — just crumble some bread or rolls about two weeks old in a milk bowl. Or if you like, try a good substantial sandwich with coffee or milk.

If despite all this, you wind up

Receding Flood Waters Present Serious Hazard

SAN FRANCISCO — Receding flood waters pose a serious fire hazard, the National Board of Fire Underwriters warned today.

The board warned against turning on electric current when electrical equipment or wiring is wet. This could result in burnouts and short circuits, it said.

The board also urged that materials liable to spontaneous heating be removed from fire hazard areas and carefully watched for rise in temperature or evidence of combustion.

Among these, it said, are certain chemicals such as calcium oxide, unslaked lime, sodium, potassium, and magnesium; finely divided metals, such as scrap, metallic sulfides such as gas-works residues; burlap bags, jute and bituminous coal; hay, grains, alfalfa meal, animal feeds, fertilizers, fish meal and scrap and sawdust.

The board said swelling of water-soaked fibrous materials such as paper and jute may push out walls or wreck building columns. Their added weight may also cause floors to collapse.

Legal Case Goes Back 300 Years

MADISON, Wis. — Pere Jacques Marquette, the French explorer who toured the Midwest almost 300 years ago, was a central figure in a utilities case today.

An attorney for the Wisconsin Power and Light Co., arguing before the Public Service Commission, cited Marquette's journal of 1673 as evidence that the Wisconsin river has been shifting for quite a long time.

Father Marquette wrote: "The river on which we embarked is called 'Miskonsing.' It is very broad, with a sandy bottom forming many shallows, which render navigation difficult."

NEW COLD WAVE RACES OVER NORTHERN PLAINS

(By UNITED PRESS)

A new cold wave raced across the northern plains today, threatening near blizzards in Kansas and Nebraska.

The storm blew out of Canada, routed shirt-sleeve weather in Colorado, and caused two deaths on icy highways. Snow overspread the upper Great Lakes region today and temperatures dropped as much as 46 degrees.

Special weather bulletins warned of falling temperatures and drifting and blinding snow creating near blizzard conditions in northern and western Nebraska and northwest and north central Kansas.

The storm should reach its peak in the two states today and tonight, the forecasters said. Motorists elsewhere in the Midwest were warned of treacherously glazed highways.

THE NEW COLD BLAST came just as residents of flood-ravaged northern California tackled a giant cleanup project.

The 10,000 residents of devastated Yuba City were finally allowed to return to their homes and the only remaining flood threat in the state was in the Sacramento-San Joaquin river delta.

But the delta crisis appeared to be passing today and no more serious rains were in sight. As the flood waters fell, the states of

Fair Weather for Southland Today

(By UNITED PRESS)

The U. S. Weather Bureau said Southern California would have continued fair weather today with the exception of scattered showers in the mountains.

Some high cloudiness occurred over coastal portions but inland areas were generally clear. There was little change in temperatures from Wednesday when readings generally ranged in the 60s.

Temperatures were fairly consistent throughout all of Southern California with little difference being registered between coastal readings and the highs recorded at desert stations.

The cool, clear weather sent temperatures to the freezing mark at three stations. Mount Wilson had a low Wednesday night of 27, Palmdale 30 and Daggett 31.

Highest temperature Wednesday was at Thermal where a maximum of 72 was recorded. Blythe, usually one of the warmest spots in the state, had a high of 66.

Palm Springs TV Audience Growing Fast

Service Being Extended to Take in Wide New Area

Television's seeing and listening audience in Palm Springs continues to grow, according to a survey just completed.

As a result of this survey, the Palm Springs Community Television corporation is expanding its distribution system to include and serve subscribers in the Chino Mesa Estates' area.

According to Hal Waltz, general manager of the corporation here in Palm Springs, enough subscribers have signed in the Chino area to warrant the extension of the corporation's cable service. Actually, the distribution cable will be extended to the Racquet Club Road on the east side of Palm Canyon Drive from Via Escuela in order to serve the many hotels in that area who have indicated the installation of TV receivers through Master Video system, presently serving many other hotels in Palm Springs, is of great necessity.

THE TOTAL NUMBER of subscribers in Palm Springs serviced by Palm Springs Community Television corporation will approximate 1800 by January 1, 1956. Five trailer parks have been completely wired in order to better serve both transient and permanent guests in Sahara Park, Ramon Trailer Park, Orchard Springs Villa, Palm Springs Trailer Court and Coral Tree Trailer Park, according to Waltz.

"The improvement program for better reception of the five channels televised to Palm Springs is nearly completed," Waltz announced. He said there were two or three areas within the city limits that had justified complaints, but that today most of them have been rectified and "the number of complaints are negligible." Nevertheless, Waltz said, the re-work, as he called it, of the entire system is a never ending job and is constantly being accomplished by a highly trained crew of capable technicians.

"FUTURE EXPANSION of the distribution system will depend entirely upon subscribers in various areas not now served, indicating the desire on the part of residents, in each area for TV reception," said Waltz. "Only when a sufficient number is seeking service to warrant the extension of the TV cable service and the enormous cost of installation, will it be possible for the Community Television Corporation to make the extension demanded."

Waltz said that TV reception interruptions have been at a minimum this year due to complete overhaul of existing facilities.

Prepare to Ease President's Job on Paper Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top administration official says Congress will be asked to lighten President Eisenhower's work load by eliminating some minor paper work.

The official said yesterday the Justice Department is preparing the request.

He said the Justice Department already has eliminated some of the name signing required of the President. But he said further reductions, requiring the approval of Congress, could be made.

After Mr. Eisenhower's heart attack, several members of Congress proposed various ways to ease the burdens of the presidency. They have said they will try to set up a special commission to study the problem.

Rep. Augustine B. Kelley (D-Pa.), has suggested that the commission be headed by former Presidents Hoover and Truman. He said the problem should be divorced from current political speculation about whether Mr. Eisenhower will run for reelection next Fall.

Three Injured as Father Rushes Child to Hospital

LONG BEACH (AP)—A motorist, rushing his three-year-old daughter to a hospital after she was scalded by coffee, ran down and seriously injured a woman and two teen-age girls, police reported today.

Officers said the three pedestrians apparently were jaywalking and stepped in front of the speeding automobile Wednesday night on Anaheim Boulevard near the Lansing Street intersection.

The three pedestrians were Dolores McCoy, 16; her sister, Cecilia, 15; and Betty Gillen, 27, all of Wilmington.

They were struck down by the car of Hugh Fulton, 36, Long Beach, as he speeded to Harbor General Hospital with his daughter, Dorothy, who had been painfully burned in a restaurant.

Brown Accused of Politics in Dispute Over Tidelands

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Los Angeles attorney has charged Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of "snooping" and "playing politics" in the Long Beach tidelands dispute.

John A. Fleming, one of the organizers of the California Tidelands Protective Assn., an organization which campaigned for passage of the Allen bill, said Brown's investigation of CTPA was inspired by his "friendly relationship with Long Beach forces."

The Allen bill would strip millions in tideland oil revenues from Long Beach and give it to the state.

"The entire preliminary phase of snooping by attorney general's investigators was devoted to endeavoring to discover on behalf of Long Beach not only who were the supporters of the CTPA but also who was active on the other side of the annexation and incorporation fight in Lakewood," Fleming said.

"We are studying the report . . . to see whether it constitutes an unwarranted invasion of privacy or contains libel," Fleming added. "It may well be that we may seek recourse against Brown in the courts."

Brown, in San Francisco, said the suit to recover tidelands funds from Long Beach was proceeding with "speed and competence" and would not be deterred by side issues.

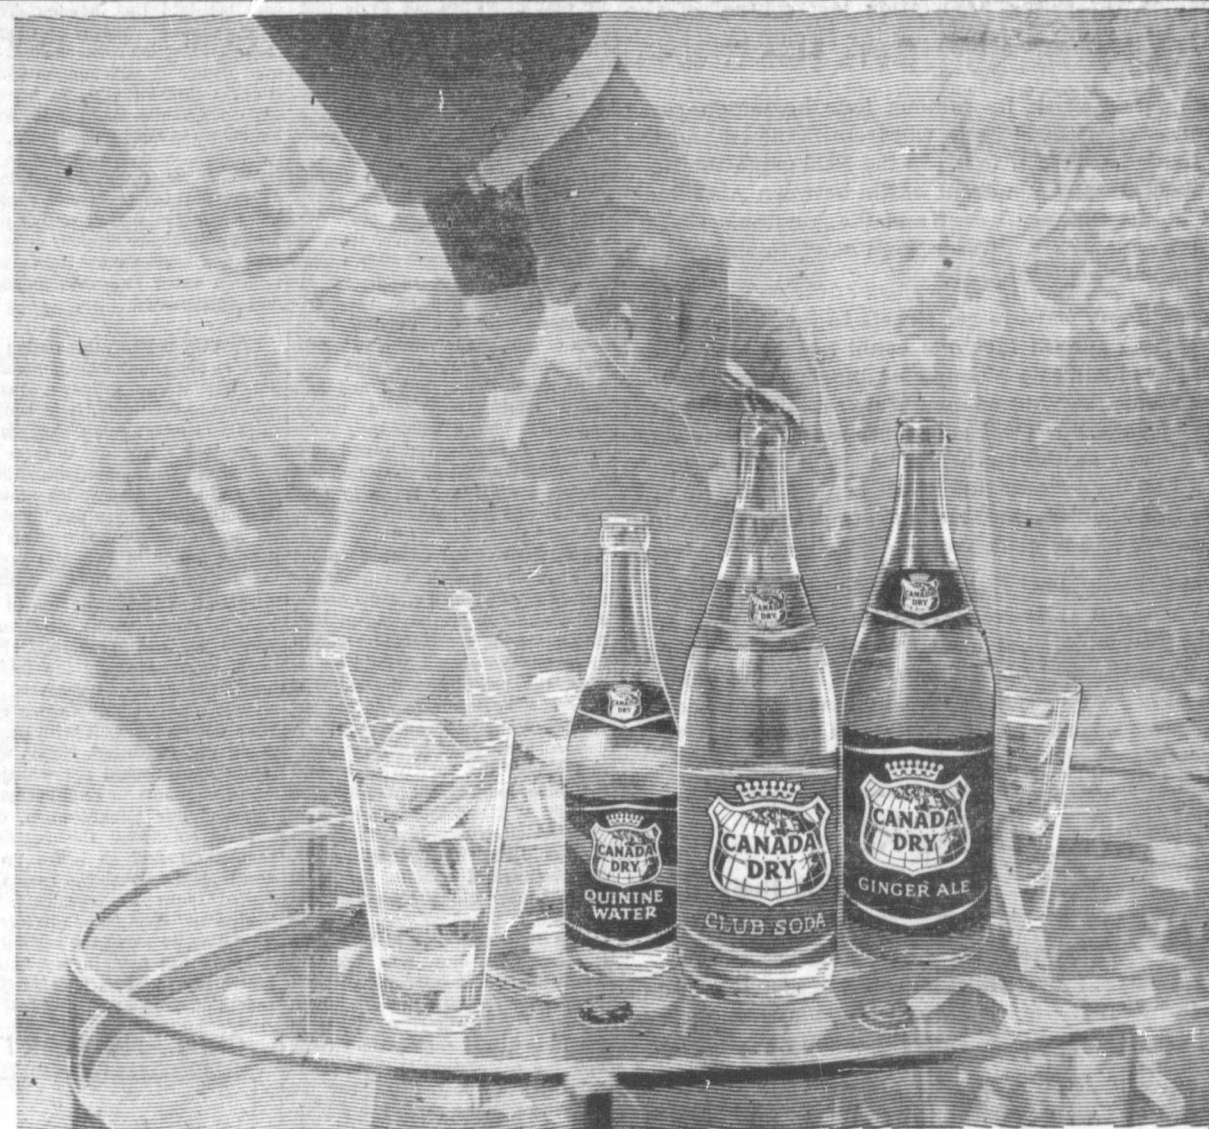

"I am not going to engage in a public discussion with Fleming," he said. "The facts in this matter speak for themselves."

Brown said the CTPA was a "ch'd" of the Southern California Gas Co.

EDITOR'S CORNER

by Oliver B. Jaynes

ROSE BOWL RECOLLECTIONS — While reminiscing on the subject of Pasadena last Thursday, I recalled that I had seen twenty-three successive Rose Bowl games and one that was played in old Tournament Park even before the Rose Bowl was built. Football fan readers of The Desert Sun may be interested in reviewing the highlights of some of the early games. It will be recalled that the first game was staged as a novelty event of the Rose Parade in 1902 at Tournament Park across from Cal Tech. In that first post-season conflict Michigan's powerful eleven trampled Stanford to the tune of 49 to 0. Coach Fielding Yost's point-a-minute team averaged over ten yards on that afternoon and gained more than fourteen hundred and fifty yards.

Chariot races and other post-parade events were substituted until 1916 when Washington State beat Brown 14 to 0. The following year Oregon won by the same score from Pennsylvania, and during 1918 and '19 games were staged by service teams. College teams were brought back again following the war and Harvard came out to squeeze by a good Oregon team 7 to 6.

It was in 1921 that I saw my first post-season football classic at Pasadena which was still being played at Tournament Park. It was one of the most memorable of all of the early post-season games in Pasadena. A follower of Ohio State football teams for many years as a boy I wanted to see the Buckeyes lock horns with California's famous wonder team of 1920. To my great surprise I saw Ohio State humiliated by the upset score of 28 to 0. The most famous play of that game was Brick Muller's pass to Brodie Stevens which some accounts said was for 70 yards. In 1922 Brick Muller and most of these same California players returned to Pasadena for the last game in Tournament Park, in which Washington and Jefferson held the California team to a scoreless tie.

With an original capacity of 52,000 seats the Rose Bowl was built in 1922 and opened on January 1, 1923. It was on that day that the Trojans of Southern California opened their string of imposing Rose Bowl victories by beating a strong Penn State eleven 14 to 3. Although they were champions again in 1922, California declined the Rose Bowl bid. The fourth California Wonder Team won the championship again in 1923 and again declined the Pasadena bid, so on January 1, 1924, Washington was invited to play Annapolis and the game wound up a 14-14 tie. Following that game the Tournament of Roses Association lost control of the event which was taken over by the Pacific Coast Colleges.

Notre Dame with its famous four horsemen came West on January 1, 1925, to win from Stanford and the great Ernie Nevers, 27 to 0. In the 1926 game the Rose Bowl spectators saw a great battle between Alabama's famed Johnny Mack Brown and Washington's George Wilson which was a thriller from start to finish with Alabama winning it 20 to 19.

It wasn't very hard to get tickets to the Rose Bowl in those early days, in fact one could nearly always depend upon picking up a couple of ducats from a scalper at game time, but attendance grew rapidly in the next decade and the Bowl was enlarged to accommodate some 89,000. Even so tickets became harder and harder to get until at the present time there is practically no public sale at all, unless one wants to stand in line all night in the bitter cold to get a poor end-zone seat.

Modern Rose Bowl history began in 1947 when the Pacific Coast Conference made its famous pact with the Big Ten which has been the subject of much criticism, particularly because it permits the same team to return only once in three years, no matter how good its record may have been. Let's take a look at a few of the recent games in this column next Saturday.

FOR SMALL FAVORS—Life is full of so many complicated things that we probably rarely stop, even momentarily, in gratitude for inventive ingenuity.

Take push-button radios, for example. They have five buttons, not four or six, but five. Your right hand has five fingers. Thus, when you are driving your car and the singing commercial comes on, you can place one finger on each button and change stations instantaneously.

This is a perfectly wonderful contribution to human progress. If there were four buttons, one finger might scrunch upon another in its haste to tune out singing commercials. If there were six buttons, one finger might develop a psychosis in trying to cover two buttons at one time.

Some inventor of rare genius, probably unknown to history, developed push-button tuning just right. The result is that a nimble-fingered driver can switch off commercials before the second note of the beguiling tune assails his ear drums.

Some, thanks to this nameless benefactor, become positively psychic and can switch off a singing commercial even before it starts.

Genius such as this should not go unnoticed. Generations yet unborn will be the beneficiaries of the five buttons instantaneous tuning system.

All praise to this great and, probably, thus far unwarded genius.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Just an attempt to get in a wish for a Happy New Year along with a plug for safe driving over the New Year weekend. Automobile deaths hit over 600, and when you start driving on the highways during a long weekend like the two we are in, it is sometimes a wonder that there are not twice that many.

I took my six children to both their grandparents' homes for Christmas, and with the loot they came home with, I could start a mercantile store — and I mean carry a COMPLETE line of toys and clothing. I have been spending every minute of my spare time playing with their toys.

Speaking of children's toys, I would guess that about 80 per cent of them are made of plastic or part plastic, and I am very enthusiastic over the results. Children of any age are safe. It seems that when I was young the toys were made out of metal and had sharp edges, and were heavy enough to "hurt" when they were thrown. I usually reprimand my children for throwing anything, but once in a while they get away with it — behind my back.

THE NEW ORE reduction plant at Thousand Palms has been approved by the board of supervisors, and I attended the hearing in Riverside. During the debate on whether or not the permit should be issued, the proponents presented a copy of The Desert Sun to the supervisors (it was the copy which carried pictures of a similar plant in Mojave) and as it went around the table, most of the men glanced quickly at it and then turned their attention elsewhere. However, when Roman C. Warren got hold of it, he commenced reading it. It is strange how many times factual newspaper accounts are used in public hearings, and in this case it seemed the only way the opponents could be informed of what was going on with the ore plant. This is my fifth New Year's in the desert, and each year I think that the celebration is more fabulous than the last. This year the big places in the Empire are planning to go all out in welcoming in the new year.

Desert Air Hotel is filling up with reservations, and Palm Desert Shadow Mountain Club is planning a New Year's Day program on January 2.

Al Laurey's Steak Ranch is getting diners with reservations for New Year's Eve, and New Year's Day. The B-Bar-H is really planning a wonderful party.

THIS WEEKEND, 1955 will come to an end, and 1956, a Leap Year, will enter with new hope for the world.

Why, even Don Klotzbuecher, bachelor City Editor of The Desert Sun may get proposed to this year, and the only thing I would like to hear is his negative answer, and how he would say it. I won't say he is a confirmed bachelor, he just believes that the saying that "two can live as cheaply as one" is untrue.

PALM FOR SERVICE this week goes to Old Man 1955. He did a pretty good job in the world, and in the Desert Empire in particular.

Happy New Year to all, and I'll see you again next week.

Congressional Report

By Representative John Phillips

When Mrs. Phillips and I stepped off the train in Washington in December 1942, and started to look for a place to live, the situation was very different from what it will be in December 1956. For that matter, it was different from what it was in 1917, when I was ordered to Washington for duty and had to hunt for a place to live in that overcrowded city. Yet the situation was better, crowded as it was, and with fewer houses, in 1917, than it was in 1942. The difference was the "OPA."

The real damage to this nation, by the OPA, was in its wide application and in the enthusiastic ignorance of the socialistic young bloods who got into that agency. There were areas where protection against extortion was needed. Human nature is still human nature, even in time of war. In housing, that protection could and would have been given by the states, better and without the danger to our freedoms which is inherent in an agency devoted to its own enlargement and occupied in setting price limits on literally millions of necessary and unnecessary items, from Chinese water chestnuts to homes and apartments.

FORTUNATELY, this nation was able to abolish the OPA before it did irreparable damage. France was not so fortunate. Rent controls in that country, established during World War I, are still in force and there has been a minimum of building and a situation which amounts to bootlegging, if you can "bootleg" an apartment or room. This has been a factor in France's present economic and government troubles.

The effect in Washington in 1942 was to make places to live as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, aggravated by the increasing number of government employees, many of whom we could have done very well without. The result was confusion. Hotels which might have rented apartments or suites of rooms to semi-permanent "guests" like Congressmen, could not do so under the restrictive regulations and so broke up the apartments into single rooms and rented them to transients. The "transient" then faced the five day limitation, to avoid the regulations. Some of the men in my "class," as we say, paid as high as $300 a month for single rooms in less than top flight hotels, in order to know that they would not have to hunt new quarters every week.

WE HAD BEEN fortunate in having a Congressional friend arrange for us, temporarily at least, to stay in a comfortable small hotel near the Capitol, but as I look back I wonder how some of the other new members managed. Those with large families and the money to do so, found it desirable and necessary to buy houses, not only for adequate size, but to guarantee that they would not be moved out by having the house sold over their heads.

Early in January 1943 we were able to get a small apartment in the old George Washington Inn, across the street from the House Office Buildings. It made up in history and age what it lacked in comfort, but we had a place to live. Unfortunately that was the year of a flu epidemic and Mrs. Phillips struggled with that and with complications which put her in the hospital for two months, after which she went back to the dry air and sunshine of Banning. I went to the University Club to live for the remainder of the 78th Congress.

IN THE NEXT ELECTION, one of my California friends was defeated, and I took over the house he had bought in Alexandria. We lived there until the Summer of 1947, when my secretary unexpectedly decided to follow her Navy husband to California, on his discharge, and after an almost disastrous attempt to get a "professional" secretary who could understand the unusual problems of a California office, I drafted Mrs. Phillips for that job, supposedly temporarily.

We sold the house to a veteran and moved into an apartment in the Wardman Park Hotel and stayed there for five years. Three years ago we bought another small house and are very comfortable and now we must decide whether to sell it or keep it as an investment. Fortunately I don't have to decide now, for I have another full year in office and then, as I have said so many times, I intend to stay here and "see Washington" as my constituents come down to see it, for which interesting occupation a sitting Congressman actually does not have the time.

It Happened Last Night

NEW YORK — "The Best Laughs of 1955" — which I will now fearlessly choose — emphasize how most Americans have just had a crazy year of pleasure-hunting.

Oscar Levant told how a man came home unexpectedly and found his wife. The "Davy Crockett" song inspired comedian Eddie Hanny to name a drunken friend "Davy Crockett." A college football coach was quoted by Matt Weinstock as saying, "Things were so tough this season, we had to use students on the team."

People didn't have to worry about wars and depressions.

Red Skelton asked Conrad Hilton at the opening of his $11,000,000 Beverly Hilton Hotel, "Mr. Hilton, did you really build this on a GI loan?"

"I will now play the entire score from 'Fanny,'" said Victor Borge, the zany Dane, at a party — and sat down on the piano keys.

John Steinbeck commented that at the worst, Rodgers & Hammerstein's "Pipe Dream" would be "a two-year flop." Wall-to-wall carpeting was funny somehow. A toupee-wearer was said to have "ear-to-ear carpeting."

Sam Goldwyn was reported by Hammerstein to have seen a bull chasing a cow and remarked, "After all, he's only human." A Hollywood director, suspecting a plot against him, told Sidney Skolsky, "I'm going to take this higher and higher until I get to the bottom of it."

Joan Blondell told of a subway rider telling another one, "Sir, do you know you have a banana in your ear?" Whereupon the other man shouted, "Speak louder, man!"

Can't you see I have a banana in my ear?"

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis made up and a Hollywoodian gushed, "Now if they'd only start speaking to each other!"

An out-of-towner asked a New York waiter for breakfast of beer and apple pie. The waiter said, "O.K. How's everybody in St. Louis?"

"Lifetime TV" contracts don't mean anything, Groucho Marx commented, "because no TV star will ever live a lifetime."

When Peggy King came out leading a dog the same color as her new fur coat, George Gobel said, "What pretty fur. And you had enough left over to make a dog."

Comedian Joe E. Lewis, ill, declined to answer when his doctor asked if he'd been smoking and drinking. "Doc," he said, "I'm no stool pigeon."

"I've been trying to get Daddy to introduce me to you for years," a pretty girl told Jackie Gleason at a party. "Who's your daddy?" asked Gleason. "Jack Benny," the girl said.

After Spyros Skouras had spoken 50 minutes at a testimonial, George Jessel said, "May he live as long as his speech."

Fred Allen in his book "Treadmill to Oblivion" mentioned a man "who had claustrophobia so bad, he couldn't live in Rhode Island."

Walt Disney's success was such that Mike Connolly quoted somebody asking, "How long can that Disney get by only on talent?"

President Eisenhower didn't figure much in the laughs because of his illness. The TV stars took his place. Dick Shawn, who opened at the Copacabana with Dorothy Collins of "The Hit Parade," told how his agent had booked him on the Ed Sullivan show. "I was surely surprised," Shawn said. "I'd never even worked for Arthur Godfrey."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows flew to L.A. and spent Christmas with his sons. Band manager Cress Courtney and model Fran Keegan got the license. Imogene Coca was asked to star in a "Pinochio" TV spectacular. A movie glamour gal's trying to keep her boy friend from learning she's eight years older'n he is. The Concord will present prominent foreign entertainers. First one: English singer Dinah Kaye.

Farley Granger and Janice Rule may make it a New Year's Day ceremony. Norman ("Naked and the Dead") Mailer turned down H'wood script offers — he's too busy publishing a Greenwich Village newspaper. The TV Academy awards — in color — will be televised March 17. Danny Scholl's up for the lead in the London company of "No Time for Sergeants."

Joe Louis — who's getting hitched — asked Sarah Vaughan to sing "Love and Marriage" at Birdland. Maurice Chevalier — getting 35G's a week in Las Vegas — lost 50c on the slot machines the first week. Lilo, ze French singaire, returns from Paris next month for night club work.

Jackie Miles wires from the Monte Carlo Hotel, "As the New York temperatures go down, the Miami prices go up." That's earl, brother.

Washington Report

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is submitting a new $1,295,000,000 school aid program to the incoming Congress.

Under this greatly-expanded plan the urgent problem of improving the nation's educational system will be dealt with by extending large federal grants-in-aid and credits to the states and local communities for three years.

The four major provisions of the program are:

1. $375,000,000 in direct grants-in-aid to school districts. This money is to be spent over a two-year period, and allotted on the "basis of demonstrated need." This is the sole two-year proposal; all the others run for three years.
2. $750,000,000 for purchase of state and local school bonds that cannot be sold at "reasonable" interest rates.
3. $150,000,000 for setting up joint federal-state reserve funds to take care of bonds issued by special state agencies created to finance school building. So far, 12 states have such organizations.
4. $20,000,000 for grants-in-aid to states to meet the costs of developing long-range educational programs. Only $5,000,000 of this money could be spent in the first year, with the remaining $15,000,000 spread over the other two years in any proportion deemed advisable by the Bureau of Education.

The President will place this far-reaching program before Congress in a special message. He will also single it out for attention in his annual State of the Union and budget messages.

NOTE: Federal grants-in-aid are outright contributions, but have to be matched in a specified proportion by the states and communities getting them.

UNCERTAIN FUTURE — The new educational program is a signal victory for Secretary Marion Folsom.

The head of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare encountered opposition from other cabinet members on the ground his proposals are too costly. But President Eisenhower sided with Folsom, and made his plan a legislative "must" of the 1956 Congress.

The recent widely-noted White House educational conference played a leading role in the consideration of Folsom's greatly-enlarged program.

Throughout the cabinet discussions, he stressed that his proposals are directly in line with a key recommendation of this nationwide conference, as follows: "A majority agreed that all states and territories and the District of Columbia should be eligible for federal funds, but that they should be granted only on the basis of demonstrated need."

Folsom pointed out that his four provisions are predicated on this basic requirement. Also that the actual money outlay for his program will not exceed $200,000,000 a year.

That point may prove highly controversial in Congress. Pending Democratic measures provide for much larger school aid expenditures.

In the Senate, a bill by Senator Lister Hill, Ala., chairman of the Labor Committee, proposes $500,000,000 a year for three years for direct federal aid for educational purposes. And in the House, Representative Augustine Kelley, Pa., has a measure for $400,000,000 a year for four years of such aid.

Further, both these Democratic leaders and a majority on their Committees are opposed to the "demonstrated need" requirement of the Administration's program.

There is certain to be sharp fighting over that issue, as well as over the amount of grants-in-aid. NOTE: The Census Bureau estimates that by 1960, enrollment in the public elementary and secondary schools will be 37,563,000. That is 10,000,000 more than in 1950.

AN IOWA FARM BOY got his very first look at the Atlantic Ocean when he was drafted and assigned to a New Jersey camp. He barely had gotten into uniform when he found himself a sentry on the beach, instructed to hold his ground. The Officer of the Day found him there some hours later, up to his hips in the swirling waters of the incoming tide. "Idiot!" barked the O.D. "Are you trying to get drowned?" "No, sir," spluttered the soaked recruit. "I'm holding my ground like you told me. But this here crick's done rizz."

MISS CAROLYN PHILLIPS of New York and Palm Springs, glances up from her desert side at the new La Paz during the perfect holiday weather.

Don't Pack 'em in Advice Given Holiday Hosts

WASHINGTON, D.C. — If you want your holiday season to be a success, don't pack the guests in like sardines.

"Fold the invitation list down to the number of friends you can handle gracefully," said Mrs. Carolyn Hagler Shaw. "You're courting trouble if you try to pay off a whole year's social obligations with one celebration."

A tip from Mrs. Shaw is something to be reckoned with. She is the capital's unofficial social arbiter and a leading authority on party-giving.

Among other things, she says a hostess has to be really enthusiastic about giving a party if she expects it to be a hit with her guests.

"A hostess' attitude is catching, like measles," she warned. "If she dreads the whole business, it is bound to show up in her behavior, affect the guests, and put an unfriendly freeze on the whole affair."

Presuming you pass that hurdle, what about the guest list? Suppose your husband wants to invite someone you think will not mix with those on your list?

"Why not give two parties?" suggests Mrs. Shaw.

Two parties instead of one also eliminates Mrs. Shaw's pet peeve about the hostess who invites everyone she knows to one huge splash.

If you're throwing a good-sized cocktail party with no help available Mrs. Shaw says do ask close friends to help you keep ash trays emptied and used glasses and dishes cleared away.

"There's nothing worse than overflowing ashtrays," she said. "If you're having a buffet, Mrs. Shaw suggests a menu that does not call for a knife. This to forestall guests' sawing on a plate balanced precariously on knees or small tables. Try a casserole plus salad plus already buttered rolls and a dessert that can be eaten with a spoon or fork."

MY DEAR CITY fathers I wish to confess that among all my attributes, and you all know I have less and less with each passing year, I am not a traffic expert. But why if we must have this Venice go-cart, its designated route was not placed on Indian Avenue which is just about twice as wide as Palm Canyon Drive.

There is a possibility that someday we may have one way traffic on Palm Canyon Drive, that is, incoming traffic. That's all my dear city fathers. Boy, how crazy can I be to buck in opposition so much tremendous weight in grey thinking matter like our city council?

Unedited

By BILL RASHALL

I'm a dumb cluck. Not smart enough to be a city councilman by any means.

This self appraisal was brought to mind, as it is every day, but most vividly again at the sight of the crowds strolling down sidewalks of Palm Canyon Drive and the almost clogged condition of traffic as automobiles move north and south on the same narrow but main thoroughfare in Palm Springs. This traffic congestion will continue for all of this month and will start again not long after the first of the new year, if my memory of past years is any register whatever.

Then please tell me, dumb and unbrilliant as I am, how this traffic jam, approved by the city council for operation in February, will aid traffic on arrow gauge Palm Canyon Drive?

THE LOCAL CHAMBER of Commerce at the behest of the Retail Merchants Association urged that out-of-town advertising be placed in order to induce buying in Palm Springs. As a result the greatest amount of advertising was placed in a newspaper many miles away in a town now blocked from easy travel. For anyone who would like to know, we have the sworn circulation figures of this media throughout the entire desert. And that does not include Palm

Before I go into what I have to say about it, I'll place the entire program, now that it is over, in the laps of any analyst and abide by his findings.

I FORGOT TO mention The Dunes the other night and their New Years Eve party. And to quote Ruby, here is what he had to say: "No cover, no minimum! Come and go as you please. There'll be lots of fun for those who attend."

And Bill Foldes of the Palm Springs Hotel, who operates one of the best dining places in town called the Coral Tree restaurant, plans to send all of his celebrants to the Starlight Room of the Chi Chi. So he said.

Springs alone! Come in and take a look if you are interested.

But my argument or contention as I have said above is not with the newspaper. What I am contending and I believe I am right is that the Christmas shoppers right in our home town were forgotten. For every out-of-town buyer who purchased gifts here there must have been two or three who bought gifts in San Bernardino, Riverside and Indio. A survey of 100 Villagers canvassed on the telephone indicated that more than 20 per cent went out of town to do their buying.

IN OTHER WORDS we were seeking green pastures on the other side of the fence and we forgot all about the people on our side of the pasture who would have bought merchandise right here in town if the merchants had informed these same people of the type of goods for sale and the PRICE of the same article they bought elsewhere. Remember we have more than 30,000 people living in our trading zone. I know too, that the plan is that each of these merchants advertise in the local paper. Many of them did. They did do a good business. But so many more of them could have enjoyed the same.

The entire substance sums itself down to one thing: inform the people where they can find what they are seeking and the price of the article for sale. I know that Palm Springs prices are just as low as they are elsewhere and when one adds the cost of driving 55 miles one way, and the hazards of the trip, the merchandise here is SO much cheaper and better too. DID YOU KNOW that Harry Oliver is a frustrated individual and the biggest self-confessed liar this side of the Colorado river. Did you know that he designed the Van de Kamp bakery windmills more than 27 years ago. He goes "crazy," he said, "every time he sees one of the things whirling around in the air." He walked through the park opposite the Union Station in Los Angeles last week with his van dyke beard blowing in the smog, laden breeze. The habitues of the green sward accosted him with loud boos and called him a sheep-herder. "It took 50 of my Desert Scrap books, handed out free, to convince them that I was not," he said. He has an interesting tale to tell me about a feud Marion Davies and Mary Pickford had years ago. When I hear it and it is good enough for your pink, soft ears, my dear friends, I will so inform you.

10,962,000 Women in U.S., Only Two Prince Charmings

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, N.Y. — There are approximately 10,962,000 single women over 14 years of age in the United States today and exactly two honest-to-goodness prince charmings.

When these two princes go back home, we still will have 10,962,000 single women.

This is purely a personal opinion and does not in any way reflect the views of the sponsors of my weekly pay check, who optimistically suggested I invite Prince Rainier III over for a home-cooked meal.

PRINCE RAINIER, 32-year-old ruler of the tiny principality of Monaco, is the latest royal bachelor to land on our soil. He will spend two months traveling around the United States.

Prince Christian of Hanover, 36-year-old brother of Queen Frederika of Greece already was here. He comes over for regular visits to escort the town's prettiest models and society girls to night clubs and theaters.

They are the kind of princes a girl would be proud to take home and introduce to the family. Prince Christian is tall, curly haired—and handsome enough for a movie star. Prince Rainier is shorter than his pictures indicate, a little on the stocky side, but definitely better looking than he needs to be with all his other qualifications.

BUT IT IS BEST to be honest about the average American girl's chances of marrying one of them. Even meeting one of them, as a matter of fact, Prince Christian moves in cafe society circles when he visits. And even the beauties in this set haven't been able to snag him. Only Princess Margaret's name has been linked with his recently as a possible wife. A queen's brother obviously has a lot of international angles to consider when he picks a wife.

Prince Rainier seems marriage-minded, but those who watched the good-humored prince when he answered reporters questions after he arrived came away with a picture of a young man in no hurry to take on a wife.

THE PRINCE demonstrated the diplomatic easiness of bachelors the world over. He said he liked girls who look natural, not glamor girls. Yet he admittedly liked Grace Kelly very much, and in most American neighborhoods Miss Kelly is a glamor girl.

The prince belittled his own qualities as a husband a polite bachelor dodge by saying his wife would have to have "many qualities . . . because I'm a horrible character." He indicated he thought an American wife might be nice, but on the other hand he said he wasn't looking for a wife this trip.

Should be Just That

FORT MADISON, Ia. — A candidate for the football team at the Iowa State Prison offered as "experience" on his application: "I just came back from being on escape. The law chased me for five years before they caught me. Should be a great open field runner."

Cheese No Special Treat for Mice

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — A University of Minnesota expert says householders would be doing better to bait their mousetraps with strawberry jam than with the traditional cheese.

Herbert L. Parten, an extension entomologist, says, in fact, that mice don't particularly like cheese.

Parten has been studying dietary habits of mice for 30 years with a view to learning the best way to exterminate them.

"Among mice in my laboratory, peanut butter is a big favorite," Parten said. "Bacon rind and raisins also are popular."

But the mouse expert said the food mice really go for is strawberry jam.

"People just don't realize that mice have a sweet tooth," Parten said.

Thrifty to Hold Special Sale for Year-End

Manny Borun, vice president of Thrifty Drug Stores Company, today issued New Year's greetings to local Thrifty customers and announced a special year-end sale that will offer sensational bargains on merchandise in every department.

"Rather than ship all our Christmas merchandise back to the warehouse to be stored until next year, we have cut prices in half and passed these savings on to our customers between Christmas and New Year's Day," Borun said. "This is our way of showing our appreciation for our customers' patronage during 1955."

"Our unprecedented sales gains during 1955, when added to the number of new stores we have opened throughout California, make it possible for us to buy in greater quantities and offer even more sensational savings from our volume buying to our customers during 1956," Borun concluded.

In addition to a wide variety of Christmas cards and decorations, the Year End Sale will include cosmetics, gift items, and dozens of household items which are ideal for year-around use. To round out the special sale and include merchandise of interest to every customer, local managers have selected many items which have proven particularly popular with local residents.

Borun explained that the special Year End Sale is being held to make room for extra merchandise now being shipped from the main Thrifty Warehouse for Thrifty's semi-annual $2,000,000 Clearance Sale which begins January 1.

Small Firms Will Get Research Aid

CHICAGO — Small business firms which cannot afford scientific research laboratories or the long wait for commercial results need not be doomed, according to George A. Stigler, professor of economics at Columbia University.

Stigler predicted in a speech here that, with the growth of research, new firms will emerge to provide specialized facilities for small firms.

He also said that although the growth of scientific knowledge and its application to industry has been constant during the last 75 years, it has not revolutionized the size of all industrial firms.

Insects have no lungs. They breathe through tubes running all through their bodies.

LOS ANGELES — Mrs. Annette Stoica, 33, won a divorce from swimming pool builder Eli M. Stoica Jr., 38, on the ground he watched television so much she became a "television widow."

Award Winning Designer Specializes in Darkness

"Not dingy," he said. "Dark. In a spectacular way."

It's the Sherman Hotel's Well of the Sea, an ultra-swank seafood emporium illuminated by black light. The walls are tinted with luminescent paint and glow in the dark.

Lederer, a Viennese architect who turned to modern interiors, said the room is a good example of his "shock treatment" technique.

"PEOPLE ARE JADED," he said. "You must shock them. Otherwise, they won't notice."

An artist in his own right, Lederer is nonetheless a realist.

"My most objective critic is the cash register," he said.

"And dark restaurants and cocktail lounges are economical to maintain. Seldom must you replace the carpet."

Lederer, intrigued with Western ideas and gadgets long before he came to this country, designed his famous "Robert's American Restaurant" in Berlin in 1928 and ran it himself for two years.

"My European friends told me I was crazy," he said. "They said American decor and cuisine would have no appeal in Europe. But it was an unqualified success."

Lederer is proud of the room he designed for the Kahler Hotel in Rochester, Minn. It's called the "Hemisphere Room," and caters to persons from through out the Western hemisphere who come to the Mayo Clinic.

The specifications called for no painted murals, so Lederer told the history of the hemisphere in six wire murals and 48 silhouetted portraits.

"It's the world's most educational cocktail lounge," he said.

"But seriously, when the place was opened to the public, the first patrons stood and applauded."

Seventy Attend Traditional Party at Sky Ridge Park

The Sky Ridge Christmas party was held in the clubhouse and around seventy residents were in attendance. The clubhouse was artistically decorated with the traditional Christmas tree, Nativity scene and mantel-piece.

To add a realistic touch, a group of resident singers, dressed appropriately in coats, mufflers, with a sprinkling of artificial snow, started the program with carols outside and then filed in singing, accompanied by Mrs. R. L. Gourlay, at the piano. It continued with the audience joining in the singing of several carols.

A Christmas reading was given by each Mrs. Clark White and Mary Harrison. Mrs. Ann Yaylian, wife of the associate pastor of the Community Church in Palm Springs, sang three numbers on the Christmas theme, accompanied by Mrs. Lois Lux.

MRS. JAMES I. BROWN and sons, Kenneth and Richard of Oceanide visited over Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Harrison and Mr. A. V. Harrison, who is an uncle of Mrs. Brown. Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Schutz of Kalispell, Montana, also spent Christmas Day with the Harrisons.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Murray had Christmas dinner with a son and family in Glendora.

Miss Peg Von Scoya is spending the holidays with relatives in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams had Mr. and Mrs. Owen Davies, Tom Cordon and the Eugene Brants as their guests over Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Best are leaving the first of the year to join the Wally Byam caravan to Mexico.

Draped Shapes, Droopy Socks—But Not Today

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, N.Y. — Twenty-five years ago men had draped shapes and droopy socks.

Their clothes have changed almost as much as women's, but with less fanfare. Apparently men just packed away their knickers with their old kit bags and forgot 'em.

Now a 25th anniversary edition of Apparel Arts, a men's store magazine, has traced the changes in 196 remember-when pages. It gives women a rare chance to tease men about changing styles, since their male wardrobes have changed in many ways similar to women's style trends.

MEN HAVE REMOVED some of their shoulder padding, stopped indenting their waistslines so sharply, lengthened their jackets, tapered their trousers and gone in for more sports clothing. One men's clothing company president wrote in the magazine that he was laughed out of his club 25 years ago when he appeared in pastel Palm Beach knickers. Now men wear pastel shorts.

A number of men that day obviously had trouble keeping up their socks. One advertisement showed a slick-haired fellow on one knee before a disdainful maiden. "He'd be in the market for a solitaire today if his socks had been as smooth as his wooing," the caption stated. They suggested garters.

THE DRAPED SUIT was a waist hugging number with square shoulders and wide trousers. Double-breasted, of course. No man 25 years ago ever felt really dressed up without a double-breasted suit. Homburgs and derbies were the hats of the hour for Wall Street successes of that day. And for "Mr. Average," one company suggested an off-the-face hat with medium curl brim called "The Drape." It was a cross between a snap brim and a Homburg.

BY THE LATE 1930s men wore gay plaid suits, tweed jackets with narrow corduroy slacks and more single-breasted suits.

Then they went into the cuffless-trouser era of wartime and the military-style trench coats. They stopped wearing matching vests, went in for more tweed overcoats. The up-to-date pictures of men in the latest styles show a more casual air, a leaner look and jaunty hats.

THREE OUT OF five shirts men buy now are sports shirts, and the number of neckties in the average man's closet has doubled or tripled in the past 25 years. Men bought 15 million pairs of slacks in 1931, when they were considered work clothing, and buy nearly four times that many now for leisure wear.

Almost nobody owned a sports jacket 25 years ago, and now eight million are produced annually. "The bold look," as the men's "new look" is called, has more to do with the variety of colors and clothes a man can wear today than the actual shock effect of his appearance. Man has come a long way in clothes freedom in 25 years, even though he's been keeping quiet about it.

Many Interesting Features Listed During Fading Year

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Actually 1955 was a pretty interesting year, featurewise.

Cute things happened although they probably will be pushed into limbo and be forgotten.

Like the headaches William H. Brett had in trying to get the mint working to correct the shortage of pennies. The head of the mint here knew what was going on. It was those hurricanes, which were knocking over houses, flooding and pushing folks into the backlands. States and cities were passing emergency taxes — extra pennies mostly. And pennies also were going into piggy banks and bureau drawers. There they have been staying. For a time Brett didn't snore much. He was too busy ordering the mint in Philadelphia to goose up production to a combined eight million pennies a day.

IT WAS INTERESTING to learn, too, during the year, that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is like a lot of us. He shines his own shoes, except when he gets a hair cut. Not only that, on world travels he swipes buffers that are left in hotel bathrooms for souvenirs. The V.P. asked me if I thought that was wrong and I had to admit that I had a pretty fine collection, too.

In the patent business, there was a man in Virginia who took all of the fun out of paddling our young by inventing a stick that wouldn't hurt children. With small fry over knee, all apparent had to do was to hit a kid almost hard enough to make him "ouch!" and the paddle would collapse, leaving the kid with a giggle instead of smarting from a spanking, which they probably deserved.

I DON'T SUPPOSE this gimmick sold very well — if, indeed, it ever got onto the market.

President Eisenhower had a bad time with the squirrels which were hiding nuts under his putting green on the front side of the White House. Squirrel experts were called into play and it was learned that some squirrels were smarter than others. Some were burying nuts. Others were plain old dumb. They didn't know a walnut from a golf ball. That has been straightened out now. The offending squirrels have been shunted off to parts unknown. And a new family has arrived on the White House lawn. They leave the President's playground strictly alone.

FIRST GLIMPSE of the Desert Braemar model apartments at the corner of Palm Canyon Drive and Tahquitz, was afforded at an invitational preview, and won enthusiastic praise from the guests.

Desert Braemar Apartment Models Attracting Hundreds

Designed for desert living, the Desert Braemar model apartments at the corner of Palm Canyon Drive and Tahquitz, are attracting over 200 visitors a day.

Palm Spring's first co-operative garden-apartment development, offers luxury apartment living in a country club atmosphere... with no maintenance or upkeep problems... and does it in charming fashion. They are also being offered at unbelievably low prices, because they are being done in quantity.

Beautifully designed and without any waste space, the apartments have a feeling of uncluttered spaciousness. The raftered ceilings slope high to enhance that feeling. The sliding glass doors bring in the desert sunshine, while the Bermuda insulated roof keeps the apartment warm in winter, cool in summer.

There is plenty of storage space and the apartment is efficiently planned for a minimum of housework. The many built-ins include such items as a television set, record-player, and inter-com, built into the cupboards. Stoves and refrigerators are recessed.

A black and white marble terrace wall, divides living room, kitchen and dining area, and can be circled, with no doors to open or close. This arrangement also permits easy heating and cooling.

On the living room side of the dividing wall is the ultra-modern fireplace with black sheet metal hood and long, off-the-floor ash pan underneath. On the kitchen side is the stove. From one corner of the wall, a built-in bar divides the kitchen workspace from the dining area.

Everyone who has viewed the model apartments is enthusiastic about the work of Arthur Elrod, whose interior decorating has retained the functional convenience, adding color and charm.

Elrod has taken the deep blue of the desert sky and complemented it with the green of the palm trees in one of the model apartments, while in the other he has used the green with sunny yellow. Natural wood and plastered walls are combined with a generous use of glass sliding doors to give that outdoor-indoor feeling.

The blue shag carpeting in the livingroom has been carried on into the bedrooms, where one wall is done in the same shade of blue, with pale blue glass curtains.

An interesting arrangement is the wardrobe which serves as a dividing wall between bedroom and dressing room-bathroom, with sliding doors open on either side. The dressing room has twin lavatories of pale blue with Mr. and Mrs. medicine cabinets and a huge mirrored space above the table top. The sunken tub and shower is of terrazzo marble, glassed in. In the other bathroom is a floor-to-ceiling mirrored wall.

The model apartments stand in landscaped grounds, the work of Palm Springs Landscaping Company, and a plastic-lined Red Kenyon swimming pool that is made in four sections so that it can be moved when the buildings are moved.

Facing the sidewalk in front of the Desert Braemar apartments is a scale model that shows how the 100 apartments will be plotted on the land owned by the company, just off Highway 111, between Tamarisk and Thunderbird.

They will stand in completely landscaped grounds, with a swimming pool, cabanas, tennis and shuffleboard courts, centrally located car compounds and plenty of space for guest parking. Each apartment will have its own private wrought iron balcony or walled patio, with service areas between the apartments.

Admission of 50 cents a person is being charged to view the apartments, with the entire proceeds going to the Palm Springs Community Chest. Volunteer workers, supplied by Village service clubs, are collecting the admissions.

Merry Holiday Crowd Enjoys Vacation at Racquet Club

The Racquet Club is brimming with a merry holiday crowd. MAKE THE COCKTAIL AN "APPETIZER"

The cocktail course for a festive meal should be an "appetizer." It should whet, not dull, the appetite for the wonderful fare that is to come. Today's busy hostess-cook may elect to serve the appetizer course from a tray in the living room. And that is fine if a beverage or finger foods are chosen to preface the meal. However, if a fruit cup or seafood cocktail is selected, at-table service is preferred.

Do make that first course light and flavorful. Make it a "teaser," and serve it in your very best fashion.

TASTY TOMATO COCKTAIL.
Season tomato juice with lemon juice, horseradish, Worcestershire, salt, pepper and a little sugar. Pour into ice cube tray and put a stuffed green olive in each section. Freeze. Serve in glasses of chilled tomato juice.

FRUIT FIZZ COCKTAIL.
1/2 C. cold water
1/2 C. sugar
1/2 C. orange juice
1/2 C. lemon juice
1 Tbsp. lime juice
1 egg white
2 C. finely crushed ice
Combine all ingredients in shaker. Cover and shake until light and frothy. Pour into cocktail glasses. Makes 4 servings.

MOCK CHAMPAGNE COCKTAIL

1/2 C. sugar
1/2 C. water
1/2 C. grapefruit juice
1/2 C. orange juice
1 pt. ginger ale, chilled
3 Tbsp. grenadine syrup
Lemon peel
Combine sugar and water in a sauce pan. Boil gently for 5 min. Cool. Mix fruit juices into syrup and chill thoroughly. Just before serving, mix in ginger ale and grenadine. Serve in champagne glasses and put a twist of lemon peel in each glass. Makes 8 servings.

COCKTAIL SAUCE FOR SEAFOOD

1 C. catsup or chili sauce
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 Tbsp. prepared horseradish
1 Tbsp. grated onion
1 tsp. Worcestershire
Few drops Tabasco
Salt
Celery salt

Combine all ingredients using salt and celery salt to taste. Chill thoroughly. Serve with shrimp, oysters, shrimp, crabmeat or lobster.

CREAMY COCKTAIL SAUCE

1/2 C. catsup
1 C. heavy cream
1 Tbsp. olive oil
1 Tbsp. vinegar
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tsp. sugar
2 tsp. paprika
Dash of Tabasco
Combine all ingredients (do not whip the cream) and chill thoroughly. Serve with shrimp, crabmeat or lobster or with a mixture of grapefruit sections and cubes of avocado.

Dionnes to Ignore Home on New Year

MONTREAL — The surviving Dionne quintuplets served notice today they plan to "live it up" in their newly found independence and won't even go home for New Year's.

The change in the "quints" former sheltered way of life became apparent early today when Yvonne, Cecile, Annette and Marie cleared up a pile of empty soft drink bottles and cigaret stubs in their luxury apartment.

The mess was left over from an almost unprecedented party they threw Wednesday night for their boy friends.

The party made it clear they intend to live their own lives and, unless something unforeseen happens, are not going to bow to the dictates of Papa Oliva Dionne at their home in Callander, Ont.

G. HAROLD EDWARDS, a trust company official who has handled the girls' million-dollar investments since they became 21 this year, dropped in on the party—but not as a chaperon.

Edwards called to be filled in on what the girls want to say about their split with their father, who complained bitterly earlier this week that they were leaving the family fold and treating their brothers and sisters with "contempt."

Gay music blared from a radio at the party. The living room rug was rolled back as the girls, whose quintuplet sister Emilie died last year, danced with their French-speaking boyfriends whom Edwards described as "all nice, decent fellows."

THE GIRLS HAD planned to go to Callander at New Years, when Yvonne and Cecile will have three days off from L'Esperance Hospital where they are student nurses. But since their father made his statements about them becoming separated from the family, the spokesmen said, they decided to assert their independence by letting him wait to see them. Instead, they might go home later in January.

Edwards said that despite the rift, the girls still love their parents and plan to continue supporting them with the money that has piled up in their name since they were born.

Tongay Leaves to Serve Term

LOS ANGELES — Florida prison term escapee Russell Tongay, convicted for the high-five death of his five-year-old "Aqua-tot" daughter, has left for Florida to serve out his sentence.

His departure was disclosed yesterday when the 38-year-old former swimming instructor was scheduled to appear for an extradition hearing.

Municipal Judge Louis W. Kaufman said Tongay had decided not to fight extradition and had left Tuesday for Florida with an officer of that state.

Tongay escaped while under a 10-year sentence for manslaughter in the death of his young daughter, Kathy, who died after a dive from a 35-foot tower. He eluded a guard in New Orleans Nov. 13.

Rita Says Haymes Controlled Cash

LOS ANGELES — Film star Rita Hayworth has testified in federal court that her ex-husband, crooner Dick Haymes, exerted considerable control over her screen career prior to their recent divorce.

The actress disclosed Haymes' influence in her business affairs yesterday during trial of her $150,000 breach of contract suit against Columbia Pictures and the studio's $150,000 counter suit against her.

FHA Restrictions on Credit Relaxed in Flooded Areas

WASHINGTON — The Federal Housing Administration relaxed credit restrictions today for persons seeking to replace homes lost in the California and Nevada floods.

Commissioner Norman P. Mason, who announced the new mortgage terms, also said a special FHA representative, M. Joseph Cassidy, was flying to the flooded areas from Washington. He will make his headquarters at the FHA district office in San Francisco.

Although immediate efforts are being concentrated on emergency measures, Mason said, the principal FHA contribution will be to make available sound long-range private financing for permanent homes to replace those lost.

HERE ARE SPECIFIC examples of credit aids available to families whose homes were destroyed or damaged in localities officially designated as "disaster areas":

Reduction of down payment requirements for new homes to 5 per cent of the first $9,000 of appraised value and 25 per cent on the amount in excess of $9,000.

Reduction of down payment requirements on existing homes to 10 per cent of the first $9,000 of appraised valuation and 25 per cent on the amount in excess of $9,000.

Extension of mortgage terms to 30 years.

For low-cost housing:

Calling into play immediately a special provision of the national housing act which permits loans up to $7,000 with no down payments and 30-year terms.

Mason also said flood victims temporarily unable to meet FHA mortgage payments or property improvement loans will be given more time, "when necessary and feasible."

Two Suspects Arrested for Thefts of Wire

Robert Cecil Jones, a 23-year-old Cabazon laborer, was arrested yesterday in San Bernardino while selling about $350 worth of copper, and held for Palm Springs police who brought him to the Village and booked him on suspicion of grand theft.

Jones later admitted stealing lead-insulated copper wire in North Palm Springs during the first part of November, from the side of the road where it was lying overnight near a telephone line repair job.

He told investigating Officer Morrie Aitken and Sgt. Ted Greene that he had driven a pickup truck to where the wire was coiled, taken it, and then separated the lead from the copper. He said he has made various sales in the San Bernardino area to several junk yards.

AITKEN AND GREENE had issued instructions to junk dealers in the area, and yesterday the dealer making the transaction with Jones notified police in that city. Later yesterday, following their return to the Village, the officers arrested another suspect as the result of a continuous surveillance.

THE SUSPECT, John Franklin Guin, 21, 444 Via Miraleste, was also booked on suspicion of grand theft. The stories told by the two suspects were compared in order to discover the degree of truth in each.

Neither suspect admitted working together, but confessed myraid thefts performed separately and alone.

Green said questioning will continue until they feel all wire thefts have been satisfactorily explained.

Reappraisal of U.S. Foreign Aid Program Sought

WASHINGTON — Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said today he thinks Congress must make a "serious reappraisal" of the foreign aid program next year.

George is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which handles foreign aid legislation and would handle any such reappraisal insofar as the Senate is concerned.

Returning to Washington for the 1956 session of Congress, George told reporters that "sentiment has been growing in Congress that economic aid should be trimmed 'way down.'"

THE ADMINISTRATION recently announced that foreign aid spending for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 will increase by about 200 million dollars above the $4,200,000,000 estimated for the current year. It also announced that Congress will be asked to appropriate $4,900,000,000 in new foreign aid funds, most of which will be spent in future years. That compares with only $2,700,000,000 voted by Congress this year.

George's first reaction last week to the proposed large increase in appropriations was that he was convinced that Congress would not agree. He has since received telephoned explanations of the administration program from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Budget Director Rowland H. Hughes.

"I'm inclined to think that there will have to be a very serious reappraisal of the whole thing," George told reporters today.

He said he did not want to amplify his statement until the administration has explained its program to Congress.

Carl S. Kegley Announces Candidacy for Congress

Carl S. Kegley, Riverside attorney and civic leader, last night announced his candidacy for Congress at a reception held in his honor at the home of Herbert Hass, president of the Palm Springs area Democratic Club.

He is the second candidate to announce for the Democratic nomination, the first being Judge D. S. Saund of Westmorland.

KEGLEY, BORN in Los Angeles, attended public schools there. He received his law degree from Stanford university. During World War I he served overseas, and left the service as a second lieutenant.

The candidate has been active in civic affairs during his entire lifetime. He is a past president of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, a past vice-president of the United States Jaycees, a charter member of Henry Knox Lodge F&A.M. No. 662, president of the Riverside Stanford Club, program chairman of the Riverside county Bar Association.

A former deputy attorney general for the State of California, he now has offices in Riverside.

HE, HIS WIFE, Alice, and two daughters, Josephine and Corinne, reside in Corona.

In announcing his candidacy for the office to be vacated next year by John Phillips, Kegley said:

"If I am elected to the Congress I will serve as a fair, discerning and responsible representative of all of the people of the great counties of Imperial and Riverside — our 29th Congressional District and its people.

"I am a firm believer that what is best for the people of our counties is what is best for the 29th Congressional District — and the people of the nation."

Pre-New Year's Eve Dance Set for Teen-Agers

A Pre-New Year's Eve Dance will be held at the Palm Springs Youth Center on Friday, December 30, from 8 p.m. to midnight, sponsored by the Youth Coordinating Council at a minimum cost of 25 cents per person.

This low price is possible due to the cooperation of the community in general and the Doll House and Youth Center Committee, in particular, the former donating the music of the Guadalajara Boys and the Espinosa Trio, and the latter the hall.

All teen-agers are urged to come early as there may be a limit to the number, due to the fact that there are a lot of visitors and college students home from school. This dance is open to all teen-agers in the Palm Springs area and will feature the most popular record music as well as the two orchestras.

Dress for the dance will be sports clothes. Free refreshments will be served.

These dances and events are sponsored by the Youth Coordinating Council to give the youth of the Palm Springs Area a wholesome, good time.

Fuel Tax Refund Regulations Set

Robert C. Kirkwood, State Controller, today reminded motor vehicle fuel dealers throughout California that beginning January 1, "original" invoices only will be honored by the refund division as evidence of the purchase and payment of motor vehicle fuel taxes.

This is part of the program initiated by the Controller to speed up the processing of refund claims, to reduce handling costs, and to eliminate the necessity for dealers to submit designated invoice copies for file purposes.

"The oil companies, distributors, and dealers have been most cooperative with the Controller's office, which is charged with the responsibility for refunding motor vehicle fuel taxes to non-highway users. We are most appreciative of that cooperation which has helped us to do a better job in this field for the citizens of California," declared Kirkwood.

PALM VALLEY SCHOOL, private coeducational day school, offers an excellent athletic program, in addition to its classroom instruction. Various sports are offered, including football activity as pictured above. Students are now vacationing, and will return to classes on January 3. A small number of vacancies will be open as second semester classes for grades five through 12 start later next month, according to J. Blake Field, owner-director of the school.

City Receives $5,407 as Share of License Fees

City of Palm Springs received $5,407.39 as its share of motor vehicle license fee revenue distributed today by the State of California for the period June 1 through November 30.

The amount was based on a $0.32 per capita for 10,381 population.

Amounts distributed to other cities in the county were:

Banning $4,354.77; Beaumont $1,779.90; Blythe $2,632.90; Cabazon $446.10; Coachella $1,435.07; Corona $5,970.48; Elsinore $1,169.41; Hemet $1,763.74; Indio $4,079.79; Perris $1,185.56; Riverside $34,286.79; San Jacinto $926.15.

A total of $8,963,311.14 was divided equally between cities and counties by Robert C. Kirkwood, State Controller. It was $3,158,875 more than the December 1954 apportionment.

Riverside county received $71,888.62.

It always amazes me to find a Carnation Buttermilk fan who thinks of this delightful beverage as just a hot-weather drink. At our house, we enjoy its old-fashioned, home-churned flavor all year round. I often use it instead of milk to add new zest to canned soups.

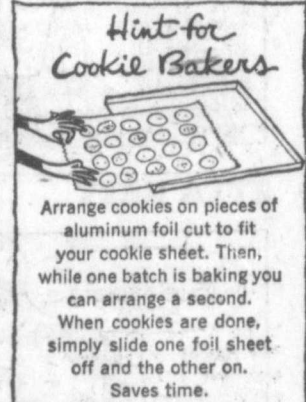

And, when it comes to cooking and baking, what else could add that distinctive, old-fashioned buttermilk flavor and that wonderful moist, tender texture? For example, it's one of the important ingredients in these special holiday cookies of mine.

Mincemeat Holiday Cookies

(Makes 5 dozen 2" cookies)
1 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 egg
1/4 cup molasses
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup CARNATION BUTTERMILK
1 cup mincemeat

Blend butter, sugar and egg together until smooth; stir in molasses. Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt together; add alternately with buttermilk to butter mixture. Stir in mincemeat. Drop from teaspoon to well-buttered cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 10-12 minutes. Remove from pan at once.

Better plan to make plenty of these. Once the family tastes 'em you won't have many left for guests.

Did you know that mincemeat is one of our oldest traditional holiday dishes? One recipe, dating back to 1486, called for "a hare, a pheasant, two partridges, two pigeons and two conies" suitably spiced and cooked, then "made craftily into the likeness of a bird's body" by stuffing the meat into a pastry shell and carefully arranging feathers over all. I'm glad making mincemeat pie today isn't quite as complicated, aren't you?

"BACK DOOR TO A SHOOTING GALLERY"

This Doodle reminds of the time I worked for the Ballantyne Sisters Carnival back in West Virginia. I was sort of a handy man and they made me do all kinds of odd jobs. I had to slip reducing pills into the Human Skeleton's coffee, give the Fire Eater a Light and stop people from stealing the Stone Man for their Back Gardens. I also had to dig worms for the Fish Face Girl, buy One-and-Half-Piece bathing suits for the Half Man-Half Woman and spy on the Midgets to make sure they didn't wear elevator shoes. I didn't mind those things so much but I finally got mad and quit when they made me baby sit for the two-headed boy and refused to give me double time.

FUTURE

It is a regrettable fact that most individuals fear the future and are afraid of change. In their complacency, most people either worship the present or long for the past. In living for the future, the prophet speaks a language which the average person does not understand. So the masses can often be fooled into thinking that the prophet is bad and destructive. — Rolland Emerson Wolfe, Men of Prophetic Fire (Beacon Press).

Sports Sputterings

By WALTER L. JONES
Central Press Sports Editor

OLD "BONES" ain't gonna be around too much longer, except perhaps to win another Olympic medal, so it would be nice if the A. A. U. selectors finally pick him for the Sullivan award, emblematic of recognition as the top amateur athlete in the U. S.

"Bones," of course, is Harrison Dillard, who helps publicize the Cleveland Indians and serves on the Cleveland Boxing Commission when not performing over the high sticks, a track event he has been tops at for more than a dozen years.

Dillard was among those nominated for the final voting this year but strange things have happened in the past and even at this stage old "Bones" is anything but a shoo-in, which is what he should be.

THE STORY of Dillard, re-told so many times, reads like one of those fiction pieces. His boyhood hero was Jesse Owens, recently voted the greatest track and field athlete of all time, and "Bones" followed Jesse into track athletics at the same high school in Cleveland and even used Jesse's old track shoes.

Harrison had one big desire. To emulate Owens and to become the greatest hurdler in the world. He did it, too, although he did it the hard way.

In the Olympic finals at North-western in 1948 Harrison ran into trouble in the final heat, knocking off a couple of hurdles and failing to finish. He had lost his place on the U. S. Olympic team, a position he had sought for years as the recognized greatest hurdler then active.

But old "Bones" wasn't out of it completely because he had entered the 100-meter event and managed to snag a third place which was good enough to get him on the team.

You know the story then. Dillard put forth that great effort and won the Olympic championship as a sprinter.

Four years later he came back, after campaigning both summer and winter, and won that hurdles event in the Olympics.

EVEN TODAY he still works out, at the age of 30, and he may try for that Olympic team again. If he makes it, he may go all the way and come through with an amazing three world titles spread out over 12 years of competition and waiting.

That's Dillard, one of the finest athletes and gentlemen one could ever meet.

This column hopes—and urges—that "Bones" gets that Sullivan award. It's coming to him.

Bruins, Dons in Garden Finals

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Will UCLA, the last basketball team to beat San Francisco way back more than a year ago, be the team that will prevent the Dons from setting a new record for consecutive victories?

That's the big question that popped up in the pot-shot sport today as both California teams gained the final round of the Holiday Festival Tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden. In so doing, San Francisco chalked up its 35th straight triumph—only four short of the major—college mark.

The Dons, with sub Bill Mallen scoring the key baskets instead of All-America Bill Russell, came from behind to wallop Holy Cross, 67-51, in the semi-final round Wednesday night after trailing by as much as nine points. Fast-breaking UCLA breezed to a 72-57 conquest of defending champ Duquesne to set up Friday night's finale.

The Uclans handed the Dons their only loss of last season, 47-40, at Westwood, Calif., Dec. 9, 1954. They did it by getting ahead and then playing a "slow motion" game, and Coach Johnny Wooden said he hopes to use the same tactics again Friday.

Pep Seeks New Shot at Crown

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Ex-champion Willie Pep, flaunting his 10th straight victory and gunning for another shot at the featherweight crown, asked today for a "challengers' fight" with third-ranked Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn next month.

Unranked Willie displayed some of his old-time ring-making Wednesday night as he won a lop-sided decision over Andy Arel of Massena, N. Y., a 22-year-old southpaw who once served as Willie's sparring partner.

Nazarenes Down Tempe

PASADENA — Pasadena Nazarenes scored its fourth straight win Wednesday night by downing Arizona State at Tempe, 72-61, in a nonconference basketball game. Pasadena's outs tanding Jim Bond was high scorer of the game with 25 points. Bond has a 25-point game average so far this season.

Junior Tennis Titles Decided

in McManus, owner of the club and sponsor of the tournament, presents the cup to Bill, as George looks on after receiving his runner-up trophy.

Tiny Kathy Chabot, a serious-faced 13-year-old from San Diego, defeated Jeanine Pierce, 13, also from San Diego, for the 15-years - and - younger classification championships yesterday afternoon to wind up the last of nine tensely fought class matches in the Tennis Club's Eighth Annual Junior Tournament.

Kathy and Jeanine went into the last set tired. Kathy won a tight first round, 6-4, lost the second, 3-6, and went into extra games after a 6-6 tie in the last set to take the last two games for an 8-6 final set score.

The smoothest tennis of three-day tournament was exhibited in a match between Mike Frank of Beverly Hills and Buzz Summers of Ceres, California. Both boys are 19, and each has held a national junior singles title. Frank is also former junior doubles champion. They played in the college mens class.

HE WAS IN TOP FORM yesterday however, where Summers couldn't seem to get clicking. Their match score was 6-1, 6-1.

Other winners and runners-up, who received trophies from Mrs. Austin McManus, were as follows: Thirteen and younger boys singles: Bill Bond, 13, of La Jolla, defeated George Ripley, 13, of Palm Springs, 6-2, 6-0.

Fifteen and younger boys singles: Bruce Campbell, 15, Los Angeles, defeated Bill Bond, 13, La Jolla, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Eighteen and younger boys singles: Stan Cress, 17, Riverside, defeated Harry Coleman, 17, Arcadia, 6-4, 7-5.

Eighteen and younger girls singles: Carol Loop, 15, San Bernardino, defeated Kathy Chabot, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

College women's singles, ages 18 to 25: Jean Williams, Whittier, defeated Marge Williams, Glendora, 6-2, 6-3.

College doubles: Bob Hill, of U.S. Navy stationed in Seattle, and Guilein Lloyd, Santa Monica City College defeated Buzz Summers and John Miller, Seattle, 6-3, 6-6, 6-4.

EIGHTEEN and younger boys boys doubles: Bruce Campbell and George Conway, of Santa Monica, defeated Carl Skvarna, Ontario, and Stan Cress, Riverside, 6-1, 6-1.

According to Ed Meyerson, tennis professional at the host club, the tourney is the last national tennis association sponsored event of the year. Meyerson, who with Mrs. McManus and assistant pro and scorekeeper of the matches, George Gallagher, hosted more than 75 young players in the elimination competition, said some of the youngsters are destined for brilliant careers in tennis, and by having obtained their training so young, they will now have plenty of time to develop technique before losing any enthusiasm.

LACC Wins 17th Straight Game

GLENDALE City College won its 17th straight game Wednesday night and gained the semifinals of the Sam Barry Memorial Junior College Basketball Tournament.

The LACC cagers downed Los Angeles Valley, 77-66.

In other second-round championship bracket games, Harbor upset Orange Coast, 58-57, Compton defeated Bakersfield, 72-53, and Fresno drubbed Stockton, 75-51.

In consolation games, Santa Monica downed Pasadena, 91-70; Ventura whipped Long Beach, 73-59; El Camino downed Reedley, 77-74; and Glendale won over East Los Angeles, 71-66.

Four Teams in Weekend Polo Matches

The last polo matches of the year in the desert area started this afternoon and will continue through tomorrow at Shadow Mountain Stables.

According to Ted Pierce, tournament and match director of the Palm Springs Polo Association and member of the Shadow Mountain Polo Club, one of the teams participating today and tomorrow, four teams will play two games each day. Matches tomorrow start at 1:30 p.m.

Pierce, who is the local association's delegate to the United States Polo Association and recently announced the scheduling for the Pacific Coast 10 goal championships for three weeks to be played in this area starting January 14, said each of the four teams competing will play four chukkas.

PLAY WILL BE on a match game, rather than round robin system. The winner between the two competing teams today will play the winner of tomorrow's two competing teams, and the winner of that match will receive three trophies, one for each of the victorious team members.

The four teams scheduled to compete are Stanford University, El Mirador, San Bernardino, the 9-goal Pacific Coast Champions, and the Shadow Mountain team.

Starting players on the El Mirador threesome will be Tony Veen, Bill Mayberry, and Larry Funkhouser. Veen, who is from Beverly Hills, has been out of action due to traffic accident injuries suffered about a month ago.

MEMBERS of the Stanford Polo Club include Dave Duff, Bill Sampson, and Tony Mills.

The starting players on the San Bernardino team will be Blaine Stevenson, Elmer Funkhouser, and Monty Montgomery.

Members of the host club, Shadow Mountain Polo Club, consists of Pierce, Lisle Nixon, and Lloyd Phillips. They, together with Frank Bogert of the Red Diamonds Polo Club, are the officers of the Palm Springs Polo Club.

Seixas Tops Sugar Bowl Tennis Field

By JEAN LIPSCOMB
United Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS — Vic Seixas, the golden boy of tennis turning gray, today led a 16-man international field into the first round of the annual Sugar Bowl Tennis Tournament.

Neither Seixas nor three other seeded players, all oldsters, were expected to meet such opposition in the opening rounds on the fast clay courts of the New Orleans Country Club.

SEIXAS, FIRST SCHEDULED to face Jean Bergerat of France, drew Tulane university varsity member Henry Jungle of New Orleans in the opening round. Bergerat was forced to drop out after sustaining a broken ankle. Third-seeded Eddie Moylan, Trenton, N. J., met Harcourt Waters, New Orleans ace; and Tulane University Intercollegiate champion Jose Pepe Aguero faced Robert Bedard, Canada, in early morning matches.

Other morning pairings included 41-year-old campaigner Gardner Mulloy, Denver, Colo., vs. Armando Vieira, Brazil; second-seeded Bernard T. Barten, San Angelo, Tex., vs. Bob Howe, Australia; and former Wimbledon champion Richard Savitt, Corpus Christi, Tex., vs. Johann Kupferburger, South Africa.

Tom Brown Jr., the 1953 Sugar Bowl titlist from San Francisco, was scheduled to meet Grant Golden, Chicago, and Allen Morris Atlanta, Ga., was to face Sidney Schwartz, New York, in afternoon matches.

The 32-year-old Seixas was top-seeded in the three-day tourney which is loaded with such veteran tennis campaigners as Mulloy, Barten, 28; Moylan, 32; and Brown, 33.

Seixas, boosted to the number one amateur ranking when Tony Trabert turned professional, sports just a few gray hairs but in tennis circles he's getting along in years.

The fiery Aguero, only 21, can spot any of the seeded players at least seven years. He could prove the tournament darkhorse.

THOUSAND PALMS

By IZETTA HUNT

Mr. and Mrs. Eduardo Cansino were weekend guests of Mrs. Emma and Miss Dorothy Hawkes. Mr. Cansino is a famous Spanish dancer, and is the father of Rita Hayworth. They are on their way to Texas where they plan to open several dancing schools. Miss Dorothy has been their accompanist for years, and played for Rita Hayworth when learning to dance.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dickey of Pecos, Texas, are spending a Christmas vacation with Mr. Dickey's daughter and family, the Karl Thompsons.

Miss Marion Allen of Richland, Washington, accompanied Joan and Dewey Wallace Jr., home from college for a two weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Morrison spent the Christmas week at their home in Elsinore.

Called a Merry Christmas to Mr. and Mrs. Hal Cornelius as they passed on their way to Anaheim for Christmas: to the Welcomes as they left for the weekend at Vista, California.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Randall of San Pedro are spending several weeks in the desert for a rest. They had to return home for the week-end though to be with their three children.

The Misses Anita Ross and Valletta Hunt had a lovely afternoon a week ago when they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Harper and some younger friends of Rancho Mirage. They were at the Shadow Mountain Club.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Edwards journeyed to Van Nuys Saturday to stay over the Christmas holiday with their niece, Mrs. Ed Thompson. They expect to meet Mr. Edwards' sister, with a nephew and niece of the Edwards, if the Edwards are able to get through the flooded part of the state.

The many friends of Mrs. Marion White are sorry to hear that she is ill this week at her new trailer home in the Sahara Park, Palm Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thornbaugh drove into Pasadena for a pre-Christmas celebration, Friday, at the home of a cousin.

We had an excellent program at the Community Chapel Friday evening, but due to the illness of so many of the children, there were several that played two or more different parts. The visit of Santa ended the very merry evening.

Mrs. Aline Kemp, teacher at the Thousand Palms school, and her pupils had a program and party Thursday morning before the close of school for the Christmas week-end.
